Your Comments About the Staff Report, Including Recommendations Supported or Opposed: We MUST have some control of pet breeders before we can begin to make a dent in the overpopulation of dogs and cats particularly. All rescues and animal control facilities are working at a constant overwhelming job without a check system to help them. There are simply not enough people to go around for all of the animals being bred and then dumped or abandoned.

The only way to stop this or to at least slow it down, is with a regulated, well run breeding registration program for the entire state.

Any Alternative or New Recommendations on This Agency: Work together instead of all this breed inter fighting.

My Comment Will Be Made Public: I agree

Your Comments About the Staff Report, Including Recommendations Supported or Opposed: Working in rescue for several years with pit bulls and other bully breeds, it is extremely disheartening to think that the State of Texas does not want to have, or enforce some type of breeding control of dogs. Unless you actually work in rescue or at an animal facility where you witness the killing of thousands of dogs daily, you simply cannot understand. Which is why, Texas should listen to the experienced people trying to save these animals. Breeders are in it for the money and the vast numbers of backyard breeders is staggering. We, the rescuers see the results of these unchecked breeding operations. We live with the results. Please listen to us and take action to at the minimum at least, have some control.

Any Alternative or New Recommendations on This Agency: Listen to the rescuers, not the breeders.
